2. Generation Workflow & Platform Notes

Models were generated on their respective consumer-facing apps rather than raw API playgrounds. This is documented here as the brief requires when workflow differs across models.

Model	Platform used	Note
OpenAI GPT Image 1	ChatGPT (chat interface, "Create image")	Generated via ChatGPT's built-in image tool rather than the API Playground.
Google Gemini 2.5 Flash Image	Gemini app (gemini.google.com), model selector set to "Flash"	Consumer app selector, used consistently across all 5 prompts for this column.
Google Gemini 3.1 Flash-Lite Image	Gemini app (gemini.google.com), model selector set to "Flash-Lite"	Consumer app selector, used consistently across all 5 prompts for this column.

Full per-outfit ratings (1–5 on 4 criteria, plus each participant's forced-choice pick) are stored in the evaluation tool's backend and summarized in the Main Document and One-Page Report; the live leaderboard is viewable at josh-talks-occasion-outfit-eval.vercel.app.

6. Notes

- Blind testing: model identity was hidden from raters throughout — each option was shown only as "Option A / B / C" in randomized order per outfit.
- Data-quality note: the South Indian Wedding Guest category logged 13 judgment instances instead of the expected 10, likely a duplicate submission. Reported as-is in the Main Document rather than corrected.
- Full-resolution generated images (all 15) are attached in the accompanying image archive.
